A story that comes from a—f—a—r

Founded in Lecco in 1876 by Giulio Fiocchi, from the very start Fiocchi established its position in the market, growing from local to national to international standing in the firearms industry. Fiocchi is now a name that is internationally recognized.

Therefore it is with great pride that in 2016 we celebrate our 140th year as leaders in the business of manufacturing ammunition of all types and gauges. Today, thanks to the highly professional work of over 600 employees – in Italy and in our subsidiaries in the United States, United Kingdom, Argentina and New Zealand – Fiocchi exports ammunition for sports, civilian and military uses to 50 countries.

Our company's history is made of people, ideas and perseverance. These values have allowed the Fiocchi family – the fourth generation now at the helm, with help from the fifth – to create a globally renowned enterprise.

140 years hunting for excellence

Fiocchi believes hunting is made of drive and people, nature and respect, friends and loyal companions. Sportsmanship is the foundation of this passion, shared by millions of people who respect life and the environment all over the world – a passion that has evolved without forgetting traditions, turning into a discipline with solid ethical values.

Cartridges play a crucial role in all of this, and Fiocchi has always invested the best technological know-how and scientific research to become a global leader in the field and to make specific ammunition for different types of game, skeet distances, and weather conditions. The true essence of hunting is a challenge with ourselves and with nature. A challenge Fiocchi has accepted for 140 years.

Fiocchi the new hunting line

Since 1876 Fiocchi provides ammunition for passionate hunters. The company has achieved important results and a world-renowned level of product quality with increasingly ambitious goals, resourcefulness, and a strong investment in research and innovation. To celebrate this year's anniversary, Fiocchi is launching a new hunting line reorganized into four families – Classic, Wetland, Performance and Excellence – which introduce a range of technical innovations and performance improvements. Fiocchi's new hunting line includes specific ammunition for different types of game, shooting distances and environmental conditions.

Fiocchi has renewed its hunting cartridge range with new materials and new colors, inspired directly by the colors of different hunting scenarios and images of the huntsman's outdoor life.
